

OUR GARDEN PATHS

What Birds Have Taught Me...

Presented by Jen Brumfield , a birding tour guide & naturalist for Cleveland Metroparks

HELLO TO ALL OF YOU!

Our club's March 12th meeting will be on the topic of birds. Jen will share her pictures based on her passion for birding; she's shown interest in the birds since age two! Her extensive travels have been related to these interests.

This presentation will include funny bird stories as well as some new information for many. She is a freelance scientific illustrator as well as the editorial advisor for the ABA , a young birder' newsletter.

Besides birds, She has also published works on dragonflies. She is a local birding tour guide with Local Patch Birding.

Do come and enjoy the talk! There will be time for questions and sharing. Bring a friend or two.

May I encourage you to bring some garden-related items for the baskets that Karen Fullerman will be putting together for the plant sale on May 9th. This will be another way for us to raise some money for scholarships.

At the meeting, you will receive your yearbook with our year's schedule and addresses and other pertinent information.

I hope you'll take advantage of the Garden Forum of Greater Akron's programs—now that we are members. It meets at Stan Hywet at 10:30-12:00 on March 12th The topic is Watershed Management & how it can impact you!

Mike McNutt is involved in watershed management and will present this program with Sandy Barbic, an Education Specialist with Summit SWCD. Both are committed to making a difference in the public's attitudes—to increase conservationism in practical ways.

May I encourage you to bring seeds and donations for GCO's Seeds of Friendship Program — to help families in the gorilla habitats of Rwanda, Africa.

Meetings are held the 2nd Thursday of each month at the Twinsburg Community Center, 6:30 pm
